

A Road

I was walking along the street,
I hit a road in front of me.
I had to cross it, at calm and peace,
But cars were honking angrily.

Running so quick and fast across,
I got to the other side, safe.
And calmed my nerves, so cross,
So high, them still, no haste.

