

Amnesty International

Journalists and protestors arrested, killed, tortured,
For reporting human rights abuses or standing up for democracy.
Standing up for others' rights, angry, trying to help.
So I decided to help too, joined Amnesty International.
We wrote to kings and queens, presidents and ministers.
Trying to get people freed, get them a lawyer, medical aid.
A deluge of letters all with one intent, to free those
Unjustifiably and inhumanely imprisoned.
To fight for their human rights, and those they represent.
Amnesty also had a stamp out torture campaign,
To do as it said, we chalked footprints in the ground.
For I know we have what we want, living in this country,
And can say what we like, and even criticise.
And that the world can be cruel for those less fortunate,
And do my bit to make it a better place.
