

Human Isolation

Alone in the world and lonely,
Nobody to understand me,
As no-one can, for here is no such thing.
As understanding.

Trapped within my life,
No-one to help, or can help.
If no one can understand,
The isolation of being,
Within one's own personality.

And living as each to their own.
No-one can take me,
Or be taken for granted,
can only take help so far,
someone can give a hand.
Until their own life preserving ,
Selfishness comes into play.
Their ego boundaries close,
And they will give no more,
Or get angry and turn away,
From the outsider that belongs
Nowhere, or somewhere else.

And I am there alone,