

Metaphysics

I believe things happen for a reason
That events are interrelated and have meaning,
Beyond our comprehension.
In the details which to the sight are hidden,
But visible to the third eye.
We can only understand through our sixth sense
That these events are interconnected.
That as a butterfly flaps its wings
In one part of the world
Something else in the universe occurs simultaneously.

I believe also that events,
though the same, alter in different dimensions,
have different facets in different universes.
The dimension you are in depending on which path you choose or happen to be in.

That the people you meet are interrelated, linked in a metaphysical way,
Though they are the same people,
Each in different dimensions,
With alternate aspects and beliefs,
Although they do not alter in form or state,
Their makeup is essentially the same.

That people have alter egos, 3rd, 4th or 5th egos
And even people who are linked to them,
In the different states of being
Though they may not have met, have a connection,
That they are linked by me, the medium.
The monkey who can travel
Between beings and gods alike,
Through different worlds,
And not having met,
Know of each other through me,
Using that sixth sense
And are therefore drawn to me, the connection.

Although when they do happen to meet,
When ready, as you and I did, then there is a flash,
A bolt of extra-sensory lightning,
Which only we can see,
Flashing onto us, fusing us together as one,
Together in time, space and the universe.
