

Sailing

I shall arise and go now,
With you into the sunset.
Stormy weather, rain or shine,
It would be divine.

There is heaven out there,
Away from earthly turmoil.
Peace and quiet,
Before and after the storm ,
The rollocking seas,
Rocking me to sleep.

It would be safe,
Away from injustices
Of humankind.
To be carefree,
To watch nature.
The winds wild,
And the serenity,
Untouchable in the sea.
