

So Near and Yet so Far.

We must bridge the gap
The gulf that is ever-widening
Reach out to touch the stars.

Yet we come across barriers,
Opposition, so near and yet so far.
Hurdles we must overcome
Barriers we must leap
Fire and sparks in the midst.
A mass of flames in the night sky
Spread over oceans and continents
Time scales and technology
Things we can touch and see.
Leave with a ball of flames,
Up in the air, in the clouds,
Out of reach, over mind and matter
We signal, we shall no longer be.
But see what we have created
Beauty and love, mystery.
Keeping us so near and yet so far.
