

Wildflowers

Flowers reaching up to the Sun,
Growing wild amongst the hedgerows.
Pink and purple species, a yellow dome,
Who knows who these flowers are.
Only they are flower fairies, hurrah!
Pixies and elves, amongst them a gnome.
Playing among the trees and undergrowth,
Causing chaos and nuisance, having fun.

Partying and dancing in clearings in woods,
They will visit at night, steal a goat,
Steal the milk and leave a toad.
Climb the wall and borrow the books.

Watch out for them these mischevious twits
Keep it sweet and nice in case they do hit.
